PLANNING AND INSTALLATION

When planning your Alfresco Kitchen the following points need to be considered.

- > The positioning of the Alfresco Kitchen must be undercover. Avoid, direct sunlight and weather. The materials used are resistant to weather but prolonged exposure to the weather will cause permanent damage.
- > Our Alfresco Kitchen has compact laminate door and drawer fronts, stone tops and stone slab ends so if the Alfresco Kitchen will be installed on an elevated deck or balcony the integrity and load capacity of the structure is paramount. For example the Barbeque Cabinet with a 6 Burner Barbeque is approximately 300 Kg per M2. Engage a Qualified Trades person or Engineer to ensure the structure can support this additional weight.
- > If the Alfresco Kitchen will backing onto a wall the wall material must be non-combustible, i.e. Cement Sheet (Blue board), Masonry/Brick...
- > Plan any outdoor power outlets and have installed prior to your Alfresco Kitchen Installation, particularly if a Beverage Fridge or Outdoor Canopy will be installed, or your Barbeque Rotisserie comes with a 240 volt motor.
- > When it comes to the actual Alfresco Kitchen the starting point is the 3 Door Barbeque Cabinet which requires a Gas Bottle Cabinet located next to this either left or right side. Please note the maximum number of cabinets either left or right side of the Barbeque Cabinet is 3, as the longest stone top is 1951mm which covers 3 cabinets. Any additional cabinets in the run will show joins between the stone tops that would require sealing with appropriate silicone.
- > The Barbeque Cabinet area for a Barbeque is a specific size which is detailed in this brochure. When selecting your barbeque, check the specifications in particular the depth required when the barbeque hood is open to ensure the barbeque fits. Most barbeques are either self-supporting via feet and / or mounting brackets that are fitted to the barbeque sides and sit on the stone top. Either option needs to be checked so the barbeque when installed is stable and the feet or mounting brackets are within the stone front edge.
